GREEN BUILDING MATERIALS RESOURCE GUIDE

A comprehensive resource list for purchasing Green Building materials and services listed in the Residential Green Building Guidelines

Listing in this directory should not be construed as a recommendation or endorsement by the Alameda County Waste Management Authority or the Alameda County Source Reduction and Recycling Board, which is providing the information as a public service to promote the use of sustainable building materials and reduce the amount of materials landfilled. Information on products listed in this brochure is supplied by the manufacturers and has not been verified. As listings change frequently, please refer to our website www.stopwaste.org/gbguide for the most current version of this document.

For more information on Green Building Guidelines or Resources, please contact:

Meri Soll, Program Manager

This listing of resources is an evolving list—the availability of materials directly correlates with the demand for them. Currently, not all of the materials listed in the Guidelines are available in the Bay Area. We are striving to change this by promoting the use of green building materials via the distribution of the Residential Green Building Guidelines. Local sources will begin to stock these green building materials when they are confident that there is a consumer demand for them. Requesting your local supplier to stock the materials listed in the Guidelines is the first step in making them readily available in the Bay Area.
